Miss Patrician

For enthusiastic school spirit and outstanding support and cooperation, as displayed in the drive for the acquiring of patrons and complimentary advertisers in the PATRICIAN annual, Miss Lorraine Lazzuri, senior, has been chosen "Miss Patrician" for the year of 1957.

Although this exceptional spirit has been made manifest in several manners throughout her four years at St. Patrick's, it was most obvious in this particular drive. To Lorraine, the PATRICIAN staff extends its heartiest congratulations and most sincere gratitude.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

A nationwide high school organization, the National Honor Society embraces all students who maintain an average of 90% in all courses taken. The purpose of the society is to encourage a well-rounded, rather than a one-sided education.

The emblem of the society is the flaming torch and the keystone. The torch represents truth and wisdom, and is symbolic of our purpose to bring the gleaming light of truth into the shadows of the world. At the base of the keystone appear the letters C, S, L and S. The letters stand for four cardinal principles of the organization: character, scholarship, leadership and service. Just as the keystone is placed by the builder to hold perfect the arch in perpetual stability, so the structure of our education is held firm and true by the virtues represented in this symbol.

On April 29, 1957, the St. Patrick's Chapter of the N. H. S. inducted its eight new members at an impressive candlelight ceremony. The twenty probationary members of the sophomore class were given honorable mention.

At the close of the assembly students of the Business Department were presented awards for proficiency in the various Business subjects. The assembly concluded with the student-body singing the School Song.

Princess Flame

Amid the gaiety and color of the Tobacco Festival, Gloria Berry reigned as Princess Flame. She had been selected to represent St. Patrick's, as had girls from all the high schools in Richmond. By the 100% cooperation in the Fire Prevention Campaign of St. Patrick's students, Gloria was given the honor of the title.

On the day of the event, the senior class presented Gloria with a fireman's hat and a corsage to be worn that evening in the parade. As a guest of the Richmond Fire Department, the Princess rode in state on a shiny red fire engine. As the parade ended, she and her escort were shown to their box to watch the Tobacco Bowl Game.

An enchanted evening at the Festival Ball ended the reign of a lovely, orchid-adorned Princess Flame.

RING CEREMONY

With November, according to St. Patrick's tradition, came the ring ceremony. Following 9:00 a.m. Mass, the long-awaited class rings were blessed and distributed to the seniors. After the ceremony, the class was given a Communion breakfast in the school cafeteria. Altogether, it was a day filled with pleasant experiences and one not soon to be forgotten.

The ring, set with a green stone, bears the inscription, "St. Patrick's High School, Richmond." On one side is reproduced the pope's tiara, the numbers "1" and "9", and the shamrock, St. Patrick's symbol of the Trinity. On the other side is engraved the seal of Virginia, the numbers "5" and "7", and the flowering dogwood, Virginia's state flower. The crest consists of the cross encircled with a crown.

Our cherished ring will ever be a reminder of our loved school days, and a willingness to carry out our class motto: "Today we follow, Tomorrow we lead."

CHRISTMAS DANCE

"Winter Wonderland," theme of our holiday Christmas Dance, was the hi-light of our mid-season social activities. . . . "A beautiful sight, We're happy tonight, Walking in a Winter Wonderland."

"Off to New York"

Happy smiles portrayed by anxious Seniors as they anticipate their sojourn in the "Big City."

Amid the hurried farewells of friends, the parental last minute admonitions and a mental check-up on baggage, lunch, and money, we boarded the bus for the greatest city on earth —New York City. In spite of the fun and merriment on the bus, it seemed as if we would never reach our longed-for goal. At last we sighted the New York skyline with its millions of inhabitants and towering buildings. Here we were in this city of dreams.

Refreshed after a warm shower and a change of clothes, we ventured out to get our first look at the big town. As we left the hotel, we were surprised to see so many people walking up and down Broadway, where millions of electric lights shone in the unbelievable signs that dominated the street. As the day was nearly gone, we limited our promenade to the sights in the near vicinity of the hotel.

Although we had promised ourselves that we wouldn't sleep during our visit, nature won out and the sun awakened us early Monday morning. What scrambling and rushing to get dressed to really see the "big town." On the way to Radio City, we walked up Fifth Avenue and stood in awe before the splendor of the displays in the shop windows. Before we turned in at the promenade of Rockefeller Center, where we found Radio City, we visited St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Tuesday was a well-filled day as we viewed the Statue of Liberty, the mighty Hudson River, Central Park, Coney Island and China Town.

Wednesday morning, blurry-eyed and weary, we dragged ourselves out of bed to attend Mass said by Father Walsh in St. Patrick's Cathedral. After partaking of some breakfast, we wended our way back to the hotel to put the finishing touches to our packing for "Home Sweet Home." Perhaps we may visit New York City many times in our lives, but no trip will be comparable to our Class Trip of 1957.

SENIOR FAREWELL

As we don our caps and gowns, we are struck with the thought that it is now truly time to bid farewell to our school and to our fellow Patricians. Just how does one say goodbye to something that has been a part of him through most of his life? It is not easy. It is far less easy when that "something" is St. Patrick's. We have been here, many of us, for twelve years. To us, St. Patrick's is home. We leave its halls with a feeling of loneliness, and emptiness within.

Yet, our farewell is not all sadness, for we have received in return the best that St. Patrick's can give us. Our loneliness, our emptiness, can no longer be found. In our hearts we hold a spirit of fulfillment, a gratitude for what we have received—the spirit of St. Patrick's.

JUNIOR TRIBUTE

There comes a time each year before the bud of spring has ripened into the full bloom of summer when the hearts of Seniors everywhere are light and filled with gaiety and laughter. This time is June; the occasion is graduation. Their hearts are overflowing with an abundance of joy and pride at having completed four full and happy years of high school. But this joy is not untinged with sorrow at leaving old friends and familiar places. At graduation each class of seniors experiences this conflict of emotions.

The happiness of sharing honors and gains; the friendships that have been made; and the numerous helps from the faculty in all difficulties have been a tremendous asset in the path to success. So, dear Seniors, as you bid farewell to your loved Alma Mater, your teachers, and fellow students, we rejoice with you in the successful goal which you have attained.

We, the Juniors, who have been so close to you through the years, feel this loss keenly, but we will always cherish pleasant memories of the happy hours spent in your company.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

In order to foster initiative and leadership, a Student Council is organized at St. Patrick's High School to conduct student activities. The general purpose of the council is to develop, in a practical way, the powers of self-government, to foster the sense of responsibility, and to cultivate the social qualities.

The Council is a board of student leaders from the senior class, with officers elected by their classmates. Members of the Council are assigned weekly duties in which they supervise the fulfillment of the rules of the Council determining the order and discipline of the high school during the change of classes and at dismissals.

Monthly meetings are held to discuss problems that might have arisen in the carrying out of these duties. The sense of fair play and equality displayed by the members of the Student Council promotes a feeling of security and cooperation among the students of the high school.

Order and silence is strictly observed by student body as Senior Councilors regulate change of classes.

CATHOLIC YOUTH PROGRAM

"Trust in Youth"—through this theme, the Catholic young people of America were given the ability to better understand the purpose of the annual Catholic Youth Week, held in October, 1956.

In order to prove to adults that today's youth is worthy of the trust which must inevitably be placed in their hands, to take the lead in carrying out this proof, and to extend a challenge to other young people to follow that leadership, students of Catholic schools participated in various activities during the week.

Here in St. Patrick's, these objectives were furthered by an assembly during which the speakers of the discussion presented to the student body various means of preparing themselves to carry out this trust.

This can be accomplished, explained Joyce Bowler, by being faithful to the little things in our everyday lives, remembering that whatever is worth doing at all, is worth doing well. Patsy Bickerstaff stressed the cultivation of the virtues of truth, honor, purity, and humility. If we foster within our souls, continued Patsy, pure and holy thoughts, and noble and lofty ambitions, we will build for ourselves a force of character which will strengthen us for the tasks ahead.

We can be what we will to be, exhorted Judy Schwerdtfeger, but we must first conquer our worst enemy—self. To be the conqueror of one's own inherent faults and weaknesses means to be master of the world.

Monsignor J. Louis Flaherty, diocesan superintendent of schools, pointed out that as a result of their training, students of Catholic schools have an opportunity to become better Catholics as adults, and that Catholic young people have a responsibility to endeavor to live up to the teachings of the Church.

Patsy Bickerstaff, Joyce Bowler, Richard Duggan, and Judy Schwerdtfeger take part in a discussion on "Today's Catholic Youth."

CATHOLIC STUDENTS MISSION CRUSADE

Michael Blommel, representative of Year I, receives from Father Gacquin the initial papers of induction into the Catholic Students Mission Crusade Organization, while Margaret Reilly, President, looks on.

Mission-minded Patricians, who form the Catholic Students Mission Organization, have given evidence of the real spirit of generosity and sacrifice throughout the year, ranking as top school in financial aid to the Mission activities. Not only by monetary donations have the students backed this organization, but by the many spiritual contributions, which are an outstanding part of a "Patrician's" day. Various projects to raise funds proved successful in swelling the amounts to the Bishops' Relief Fund, the Trailer Chapel, and the Bolivian Missions. This is just another example of cooperation in school activities.

Rosemary Hargadon and Patricia Leary are attendants to our May Queen, Annemarie Luy, who was chosen by popular vote of senior classmates as the outstanding Child of Mary. She has shown her love for our Blessed Mother by faithfully living up to her promises and endeavoring to make her life more Mary-like in all things.

GLEE CLUB

"Let There Be Music." Various activities have called upon the members of the Glee Club to render their talent. They may be heard broadcasting over WRNL for the Legion of Mary Program, or the special feature of a St. Patrick's Day affair, and most of all, each month singing the High Mass in Church.

SPEECH ARTS CLASS

By means of participation in the Speech Arts Class, students acquire the ability to express their opinions on various topics with unity, emphasis and coherence.

CHRISTMAS PLAY

"Light of the World" was the title of our Christmas play, portraying the twins—Peggy and Joan Hull as Miriam and Ruth; Kathleen Leary as Judith; Lulu Wrench as Rachel, and Esther Evans as Esther.

"O HOLY NIGHT"

"Fall on your knees, O hear the angel voices," sang the choir, as once again, the "Sweetest Story Ever Told" was reenacted. Mary Ann Mahoney portrayed our Blessed Mother, while Jerry Foldesi played the role of Joseph.

PATRICIAN STAFF

Joyce Bowler, Gail Antone, and Patsy Bickerstaff spend many hours working to achieve the desired goal. "Talent alone cannot make a writer, there must be a heart behind the book."

QUEEN OF HEARTS

The Queen of Hearts contest, sponsored by the Junior Class, was concluded with a Valentine's Dance at which the lucky winner was crowned "Queen of Hearts" by Roy Lamont, a local television celebrity. A nominee from each class was selected and enthusiastically supported by her classmates. The votes consisted of monetary contributions, which when counted, determined Anne Tierney, Senior, as the winner.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

The Patricians were off to a flying start in making this one of the best basketball seasons St. Patrick's ever had.

The "first five" on the Boys' team seemed to chalk up one victory after another as the season commenced. Alvin Brummel, Albert Joseph, George Gibrall, Arthur Blanchard and James Roper made a wonderful showing on the court. They were effectively assisted by the second string and the rest of the substitutes in proving the true value of "team work."

Our new coach, Robert Micheli, deserves our heartiest congratulations for developing in the boys qualities of loyalty, cooperation, leadership, and sportsmanship.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Under the leadership of Gladys Mann and Dorothy Davenport, our girls' basketball team had an exceptionally successful season this year.

With the efficient techniques of Mary Ann Reilly, Kitty Reilly, and Helen Johnson, first string guards, the speed and accuracy of our "first forwards," Mary Frances Gayle, Sandra Crone, and Phyllis Jeter, were put to best advantage.

We were extremely pleased, also, with the promise for future years that was shown by our second-string players.

Sincere congratulations are due our coaches and their hard-working team of girls for their manifestation of the Patrician spirit and of the importance of cooperation.

CAFETERIA

One of the the highlights of the day is lunchtime; students, here represented by seniors, chat merrily as they sit down to lunch in St. Patrick's cafeteria. In these cheerful surroundings, boys and girls enjoy the relaxing moments between studies.

"We meet around the festive board."

OUR LADY OF THE KITCHEN

Many were the meals you cooked

The growing Lad, our Jesus Lord,
And kind Saint Joseph, too.

Mrs. Stasia Miller dispenses good cheer.

KITCHEN

Good food and clean surroundings combine to form pleasant dispositions, as reflected here in the smiles of seniors, served through the gracious efforts of the Parent - Teachers. Special recognition must be given Mrs. Miller for her invaluable service in planning and providing well-balanced meals for the students, who deeply appreciate her enthusiastic and loyal efforts.
